Sefton's Barn

Sefton's Barn is a stunning Grade II listed tithe barn that has been lovingly restored, retaining original features, whilst providing modern facilities for your wedding or civil ceremony.

The barn is named after famous Army horse Sefton, who was critically injured in the IRA bombing in Hyde Park in 1982. He recovered to return to active service and became a national hero. In 1984, Sefton retired from the Household Cavalry, and moved to our Home of Rest for Horses where he was a popular resident for his remaining years.

By choosing Sefton's Barn in which to hold your wedding, you will have access to one of Buckinghamshire's most beautiful and exclusive venues and will be helping horses by supporting The Horse Trust's work.

The barn can hold up to 100 people for your ceremony and reception and can be hired from 10am-6pm.

Commemorative Giving

Whether you're having a big wedding or a more understated ceremony, we and our residents here at The Horse Trust would be so grateful if you chose to receive donations as charity wedding gifts – or to donate part of the money you receive to us here.

As a charity we are 100% reliant on public donations and are so grateful for the funding we get from our dedicated supporters. If this is something you would like to consider, we can supply envelopes on the day or help you set up an online giving page.

Please contact your wedding co-ordinator for more information.
